WORKS BY JULES VERNE JULES VERNE

Jules Verne is rightfully acknowledged as the 'Father of Science Fiction.' He foretold the invention of the submarine, space travel and many other scientific inventions long before his imagination became a reality. The visionary and entertaining books he wrote in the middle years of the 19th century are filled not only with science fantasy but also a sense of adventure and exhilaration. The reader will discover this in this volume, Works by Jules Verne. Including in the volume are: Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea, The Mysterious Island, Journey to the Centre of the Earth, Master of the World, From the Earth to the Moon and Round the Moon. These books total more than 500,000 words and are brought to the reader at an inexpensive price for all to enjoy. This entertaining collection was compiled and formatted by Paul Morrison for easy reading and published by Kemetpharaonics Publishing House.
