'anything goes...' is the story of Siddhartha, a currency trader, who lived his life betting on economies to rise or fall; while he profited with every rise and every fall. He left it all after a tragic accident. It is the story of a man who loved but was cheated of it. It is a hymn to a man who saw death and wished to return to life. The author illustrates a game for Siddhartha to place his final trade in life; a bet on wisdom to see power fall; a bet on people to see the biggest institution of mankind fall. A trade which he hoped would bring about a revolution. A revolution to change the world forever! It is the story of a hero that lives inside each of us. It is a story of a sacrifice that would be remembered forever.
